OBJECTIVE : The main objective was to expose the students to various level of micro-teaching adapted to aid the specially abled children to overcome their disabilities and educate them using various special methods like Braille so that they don't miss out on anything that are generally available in formal education system.

OUTCOME : The students were able to understand and comprehend the intricacies of various form of micro-teaching. They were overwhelmed to see the efficiency of the specially abled children in performing various works, specially applied fields like computer application and other vocational courses. They were also introduced to state-of-art "Digital Literacy Lab" inaugurated on their premises by NBCD (in collaboration with Enable India) which set new standard for other such schools (for specially abled children) to follow.

Overall the experience was really enriching for both the students and teachers and will motivate the students to work harder and overcome all the hurdles.
